Course number and section: VISA 336A 001

Course Topic: Advanced Practice in Printmaking

Instructor: Briar Craig

Course Description:

Opportunity for students to continue their exploration of select media in printmaking (intaglio, relief, lithography, and screen printing) within the context of contemporary art practice. Interdisciplinary crossover, evolving processes, and new materials will be encouraged.

Other: Since this course is an Advanced Practice course, the emphasis will be on continuing to develop print-based works through the media that have been previously studied. While exploring new print processes will be encouraged, it is not a requirement and it is essential for students to continue developing from the skills they have acquired at the Introductory level.
